

Coast Caregiver Resource Center

Who We Are

Coast Caregiver Resource Center (CCRC) is the point of entry to local supportive services available to nonpaid family members ages 18 and older caring for adults with adult-onset brain impairments and older adults with disabling conditions.

A program of Cottage Health, CCRC is committed to the well-being of our communities through service with excellence, integrity and compassion.

CCRC is one of 11 regional nonprofit Caregiver Resource Centers that serve the estimated 5.5 million unpaid family and friend caregivers across the State of California. CCRC has been serving the tri-county coastal communities of San Luis Obispo, Ventura and Santa Barbara Counties since 1987.

What We Do

• Consultation and Education

All clients receive free, confidential and personalized guidance in managing caregiving responsibilities and referrals to helpful resources.

• Support Groups

Staff-facilitated groups offer caregivers a venue for peer support.

• Mental Health Counseling

Short-term counseling is available to help family members adjust to initial or ongoing challenges related to caregiving, such as grief related to a loved one's diagnosis, role changes, family conflicts and stress management.

• Respite Care

Eligible clients may receive short-term respite care (substitute care). Depending on funding, CCRC provides financial assistance for in-home support, adult day care services or short-term out-of-home care.

Funding

Our services are entirely funded by grants and private donations.

CCRC is generously supported by the California Department of Health Care Services and the Central Coast Commission for Senior Citizens, Area Agency on Aging.

Donations are a vital source of funding. All donations to CCRC are tax deductible and gratefully received.
